Experienced minority firm awarded Birmingham Airport Security Project

BIRMINGHAM and ATLANTA – TDC Systems Integration (TDC SI) was selected by the Birmingham International Airport as a subcontractor to provide the infrastructure including cabling, conduit and electrical power for systems, as well as termination of the equipment for the main terminal, security operations, parking areas and surrounding air and land locations. One of the most successful minority contracting firms in the nation, TDC SI is headquartered in Atlanta and serves clients throughout North and South America. The multi-million dollar company provides turnkey systems integration services – including engineering, design and implementation – for a wide range of industries with a specialty in aviation. The company’s aviation experience includes Atlanta, Dallas, New Orleans, Boston, Los Angeles, and Columbia.

A HISTORY OF SUCCESS

TDC SI was founded in 1995 by Antonio Dozier, President/CEO. Since then, the company has grown exponentially. “There are two critical aspects to this project,” explained Dozier. “The first is the need to ensure the highest level of security and safety for passengers and employees at the Birmingham Airport. With our experience at other airports as well as other security projects, TDC SI brings an in-depth understanding of the needs and regulations affecting a project of this magnitude.”

Mr. Dozier believes TDC SI’s turnkey philosophy and competitive pricing played a key role in the award of the project. While some companies are able to offer pieces of the whole, TDC SI can complete every aspect of the project, ensuring it is completely integrated and meets the highest levels for quality and security.”

FROM THE AIR TO THE DESK

TDC SI provides complex technology solutions to a variety of industries. This includes intelligent traffic systems, public safety and facility build-out services such as installing and configuring the infrastructure as well as security, electrical and HVAC systems.

When asked about the company’s success, Dozier says, “TDC SI has grown over the years because we are dedicated to ensuring our projects meet and exceed client expectations. From the airport, through traffic, to the building, to the desk, TDC SI provides services that ensure complicated systems will operate efficiently and effectively.”

PROFILE OF A LEADER

The heart of the company is Antonio Dozier, an accomplished corporate strategist and marketer whose vision led to the founding of TDC SI. His creative and operations strengths have led him to be featured as an elite small businessman in his corporate HQ of Cobb County, a metropolitan Atlanta county. Mr. Dozier is highly sought out by CIO’s and CEO’s for his expert advise on a variety of system solutions. Presently Dozier is focusing on expanding his corporation to include the DOT and commercial construction projects. TDC Systems Integration is currently the only certified minority DOT prime contractors in the State of Georgia that provides Intelligent Traffic Systems (ITS) and Traffic Signal Control System Installations, and he plans to take that experience to other states throughout the Southeast.
